

Rangoli, is the art of making designs or patterns on the walls or the floor of houses in India using finely ground white powder along with different colors. Numerous households in the Indian subcontinent use Rangoli designs for decorating the courtyard of their house during the festival of Diwali and to welcome visitors.

Rangoli, is the art of making designs or patterns on the walls or the floor of houses in India using finely ground white powder along with different colors. Numerous households in the Indian subcontinent use Rangoli designs for decorating the courtyard of their house during the festival of Diwali and to welcome visitors.

Rangoli, is the art of making designs or patterns on the walls or the floor of houses in India using finely ground white powder along with different colors. Numerous households in the Indian subcontinent use Rangoli designs for decorating the courtyard of their house during the festival of Diwali and to welcome visitors.